The BHD Foundation

Birt–Hogg Dubé (BHD) syndrome is an inherited, rare condition. It is not currently well known by either the public or within the medical profession.

The BHD Foundation is the only organisation in the world created specifically to raise awareness of and provide support to those with BHD.

We are here to support you in your journey whether it be helping you to find a testing centre or specialist, attending one of our Meet the Expert events, or ensuring you have access to the latest research.

We are supported by the Myrovlytis Trust. Through providing information and support to patients, raising awareness among clinicians and the public and strategically funding research, the Myrovlytis Trust aims to transform the outlook for rare diseases.
